Refunds due on tax penalty fees

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Approximately 220 Romulus taxpayers were charged an illegal late penalty fee and have refunds coming, according to Treasurer John Lewkowicz. The total amount of money to be returned exceeds $3,500.

According to the Michigan General Tax Law of 1982, which went into effect January 1983, it is no longer necessary for city councils to vote to extend the tax due date from Feb. 14 until Feb. 28, as had been done in the past.

Council action is now necessary only if the city or township wishes to deny the extension, thereby making it standard. The Romulus City Council took no action this year, so no late fees should have been collected, according to the state law.

In addition, it appears that some of Romulus' large corporations, including Kelsey Hayes and General Motors, were informed by Lewkowicz that the due date for taxes was Feb. 14, thereby losing two weeks additional interest on their taxes.

Lewkowicz stated that although he was ignorant of the law change until after the Feb. 14 deadline, he was against charging late fees and only did so "because I was ordered to by the mayor (Beverly McNally) and (city attorney) Ronald Mack."

Lewkowicz maintained that since council voted to extend the deadline last year, that exten-

THESE TAXES ARE DUE DECEMBER 1, 1984, AND ARE PAYABLE WITHOUT PENALTY TO THE CITY TREASURER THROUGH FEBRUARY 14, 1985. BEGINNING FEBRUARY 15, 1985, AN ADDITIONAL 3% LATE PENALTY CHARGE WILL BE ADDED.

BEGINNING MARCH 1, 1985, TAXES ON REAL PROPERTY CAN BE PAID ONLY TO RAYMOND J. WOJCIWICZ, WAYNE COUNTY TREASURER, 208 CITY-COUNTY BUILDING, DETROIT, MICH. 48226, WITH THE 4% ADMINISTRATION FEE PLUS 1% PER MONTH INTEREST COMPUTED FROM MARCH 1, 1985.

BEGINNING MARCH 1, 1985, PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES CAN BE PAID ONLY AT THE CITY OF ROMULUS TREASURER'S OFFICE, 11111 WAYNE ROAD, ROMULUS, MICH. 48174, WITH THE 4% ADMINISTRATION FEE PLUS 1% PER MONTH INTEREST COMPUTED FROM MARCH 1, 1985.

THE REMAINING SCHOOL OPERATING PORTION OF THE ROMULUS SCHOOL DISTRICT (R096) TAX IS COMPUTED ON THIS TAX STATEMENT. THE FIRST PORTION OF THE SCHOOL OPERATING TAX WAS COMPUTED ON THE CITY TAX STATEMENT.

THIS STATEMENT WHEN PROPERLY STAMPED AND SIGNED CONSTITUTES YOUR RECEIPT FOR THE TAXES LISTED HEREON.

sion was still in effect. McNally disagrees and claims that her office did not become aware that the treasurer had not requested the extension in January, when the assessor informed her of it.

"Since we weren't aware of the law that had been changed, we tried to find out," the mayor said. "My finance director went and asked the treasurer why it had not been requested and was told by Mr. Lewkowicz to mind his own business and ordered out of his office.

"While he (Lewkowicz) maintains that he acted on orders from Mack and myself," McNally said, "the fact is that as an elected official, the treasurer does not have to do anything we say. He answers to himself."

Lewkowicz states that once he started collecting the late fee and was informed of the new deadline by the county treasurer, he "couldn't stop charging it until the council acted on it."

"The council never acted on it to begin with, so there was no need to wait for that," McNally countered.

While admitting that Mack should have been aware of the change in the tax law, McNally added that the county should have notified the treasurer's office of the changes, which it never did.

Monday, more serious accusations were leveled at Lewkowicz; that he ordered workers in his office to "backdate" mail receipts of taxes to Feb. 14, while charging those paying in person the three percent late fee.

Lewkowicz admitted to backdating bills paid on Feb. 15 to Feb. 14, but claimed he didn't collect the late fee "at the counter" either.

McNally said that workers in the treasurer's office had mentioned the backdating was still going on as late as Feb. 20.

"They were concerned, because they know that something was wrong if they had to backdate taxes received in the mail to Feb. 14. They were upset because of what Mack termed potential fraud," she said.

Mack, who, as of late Monday stated he "has not made a decision yet on the law, I'm still looking at it," sent a memo to Lewkowicz dated Feb. 15 which stated "...on all taxes paid on or after Feb. 15, a delinquent fee is required."

McNally, who sent the treasurer a memo on Feb. 20, said "...it is important that the city of Romulus be uniform in its charges of penalties for late payment of property taxes...if these procedures are not in accordance with your understanding and practice, please advise me."

"This was a mistake which could have been taken care of quickly," McNally said. "The backdating of bills bothers me a lot, for obvious reasons. But, if Mr. Lewkowicz had just come out and accepted blame for an honest mistake, charging the penalty fee without knowing about the law, everything would be OK. Everyone would have cooperated. Now, what we have is a big, sticky mess."

Murder victim identified

The body of Keith Blazier, 29, of Plymouth, who was apparently killed by multiple gun shot wounds, was discovered in a ditch Monday morning.

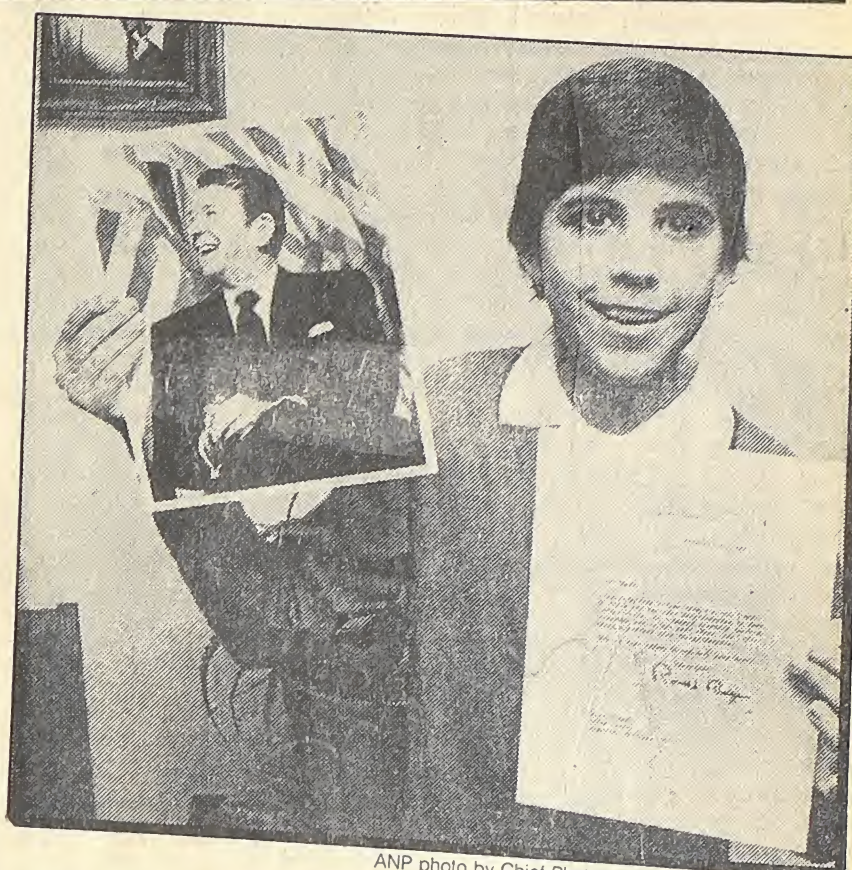

According to Romulus Det. Sgt. David Early, a news delivery person came across the body while making his rounds on the 8800 block of Grover.

The victim was last seen at 11:30 p.m. Sunday in Inkster. He was reported missing to Plymouth police by his father Tuesday.

Early says robbery does not appear to be a motive, since the well dressed man was wearing gold jewelry and a watch.

Police feel the man was not killed where he was found, but rather was dumped there after he was shot.

Anyone with information should contact the Romulus Police Department at 941-8400.

Dear Mark...

Mark Pyenta got a chance to play President Ronald Reagan in mock elections at his school last fall. But little did he know that a letter to the President would result in a personal response from the Chief Executive. Mark admits that while it's exciting to hear from the President, it hasn't swayed him towards a career in politics.

Student's letter draws response

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

When 12-year-old Mark Pyenta ran as Ronald Reagan in the mock election at Merriman Elementary School last November, he had to campaign and debate his way to victory, defeating his opponent, Chris Vavro, who ran as Walter Mondale, 444 votes to 87.

After his win, Mark had an idea; why not write a letter to the real President Ronald Reagan? All he had to lose was a (then) 20 cent postage stamp.

On the morning of Feb. 4, Mark got a surprise. "I was barely awake, and my mom came walking in my room with this letter in her hand. She didn't say anything, but she was smiling."

The letter was from the desk of President Ronald Reagan, "and it doesn't seem to be a form letter of any kind," said Carol Pyenta, Mark's mom, who added that "the signature seems authentic too, not a stamp."

The letter, which is shown here, addressed questions Mark brought up in his original letter.

"I said: Dear Mr. President: I am an honor roll student in the sixth grade at Merriman Elementary School."

"This year, we had a mock election and I was picked to be you, Mr. Reagan. I had to campaign, give speeches and debate, just like you did...we would like to meet you when you visit the Detroit area. We live right next to Metropolitan Airport. Mom and Grandma even said they would fix you a home-made dinner, if you come."

"When I got the letter, my heart was pounding because I was so happy," says Mark. "I took it to school and showed my teachers and everyone. They all thought it was great!"

Despite his success, Mark has no plans to go into politics as a profession.

"I want to be a lawyer. I think it'd be less confusing than being a politician."

As for the letter, Mark says he'll always remember it — "my mom made about a million copies of it, and my dad wants to frame it."

"I guess I do, too."

In harmony

It was like a trip around the world, without even having to leave the classroom, as students at Beacon Day Treatment Center celebrated their own ethnic festival last week. Teachers and students alike had worked on projects concerning different parts of the globe, in an effort to exhibit mutual harmony. In the photo above, teacher Jaci Estes (center) shows off authentic looking East African artifacts with Brian Alford, 5, (left) and Titus Delavale, 7, (right). According to Estes, "weeks and weeks of preparations went into this project, and the majority of the things displayed were made entirely by the kids. We're real proud of them." ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

Terry Mills
One big reason why Romulus had a record 19-4 won-lost basketball season is Terry Mills who amassed 598 points during the 1984-85 campaign to break his uncle, Nate Davis' single season scoring record. And Mills, a 6-9 junior, will be around next year to help Coach Al Wilkerson and the Eagles continue their drive for a Class A state championship.

Stevie Glenn
Every time Stevie Glenn is on the hardwood one can depend on him giving 100 percent effort. Glenn has been one of the spark plugs in the Romulus basketball machine that has chalked up a 19-4 record. Glenn also will be back a year from now to pick up where the Eagles left off — driving toward a state title.

Those in power

One can understand where Dan O'Brien, Van Buren township board member and that board's representative to the Peoples Hospital Community Authority, is coming from.

Highly critical of a report compiled by PCHA attorney B. Ward Smith in support of the "status quo" at PCHA, O'Brien says he isn't surprised at the conclusions presented by Smith and his string of attorneys. The report states the PCHA can't be sold.

"After all, Smith and his firm receive thousands of dollars in legal fees from the PCHA for the many tasks they performed," O'Brien says.

Although the majority of the affiliated communities are against selling the PCHA, Van Buren and a minority group would like to see the local chain sold so that "local governments can get out of medical and hospital business." If it happens, then local residents will see a small reduction in their taxes.

And, even though dissident opinions usually are snarled at, O'Brien has a solid point: "How do you expect someone employed by an administration to come back with an anti-administration opinion, an opinion that would also eliminate that person's job?"

We concur — it usually isn't done.

Every two or four years when local elections are staged, usually those elected to power bring with them a cadre of loyal professionals. Those law and engineering firms who didn't support the victors find themselves on the outside looking in.

And, like Andy Jackson, the seventh president of these United States once noted: "To the victor goes the spoils."

The miracle of it all — and probably a tribute as well — is that our system does work. And it remains the best.

And, we don't see any shift in PCHA philosophy. Those in power have the power.

Now back to the Iran-Iraq wars.

It seems that Romulus mayor Beverly McAnally and city treasurer John Lewkowicz continue to wage a struggle over who has authority to do what.

The mayor recently ripped off a letter to the man down the hall that stated: "To insure that all taxpayers are treated fairly and equitably, it is important that the City of Romulus be uniform in its charges of penalties for late payment of property taxes."

"It is my understanding that all mail payments received and postmarked after February 14, 1985 are not being processed until the proper penalty charge is paid. Also, payments received at the counter after February 14, 1985 are having a penalty charge added."

"If these procedures are not in accordance with your understanding and practice, please advise me."

The memorandum is signed by Mayor McAnally.

In true Machiavellian manner.

Lewkowicz wondered aloud: "I wonder if she (the mayor) is employing spies. I don't know where she got her information from about what we're doing in this office, but there is a City Charter and a City Council and I adhere to what is law."

"And I will not employ the deviousness she has to gain information. I have collected taxes according to the dictums of law. And I will abide by what is the law."

The wars continue.

All ears

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally (left), and DPW Chief Mechanic George Simko, jr., display a copy of the "Eyes and Ears" logo which will appear on all city vehicles which have radio contact with the city dispatcher. The "Eyes and Ears" program was initiated by Consolidated Gas and Detroit Edison during a period time when several cases of child molesting was occurring on Detroit streets.

'Eyes and Ears' comes to Romulus

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally has approved a suggestion by the city's chief mechanic, George Simko Jr., to institute an "Eyes and Ears" Program similar to the one used by Michigan Consolidated Gas.

John W. Hochrein of Mich-Con has supplied the City of Romulus with the needed "Eyes and Ears" decals, which will be placed on the sides of those city work crew vehicles that also show a City of Romulus decal.

Those vehicles will serve as a visible sign of available help to the children of the community in times of emergency should they feel their safety or life is in danger.

The administration is asking that parents explain to their children what the "Eyes and Ears" decals mean. They are on display at Romulus City Hall or at the Department of Public Works daily.

All of the vehicles bearing the decals will be equipped with two-way radios, so that assistance from the police or fire department may be obtained in the quickest possible manner.

Robbe restoration film unveiled

Spearheading a community-wide effort to preserve the Franklin L. Robbe Farm as a Museum, Cathy Horste, Van Buren Township Historian, and Diane Wilson, Robbe Farm Restoration project director, last week presented a pertinent slide presentation on the future development of the project.

Some 30 Van Buren-Belleville residents were invited to the presentation.

The GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club, in cooperation with the Van Buren Township, is rallying community support to preserve the Robbe Farm as a museum.

"We recently obtained the farm as a gift from the Huron Clinton Metro Park Authority," said Horste, "and to restore it for use as a turn-of-the-century hands-on museum."

Project chairperson is Wilson, who is looking for volunteers to serve on both the advisory board and as a chairman and members of various sub-committees.

The premier presentation of the slide was made on March 1 at the home of Van Buren Township Clerk Delphine Dudick. Viewing the awareness presentation were select members of the Robbe Farm Restoration Project Advisory Board.

The community awareness slide presentation is now available for use in showings to all interested area organizations. Horste and Wilson have tailored the program to be of special interest to the community service clubs, the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Education, building principals and teachers in all schools, the PTO organizations, individual classrooms within the Van Buren school system, church groups scout troops and any assemblies that might be interested.

Those who have already volunteered for the restoration project will be contacted by the project chairman or members of the Robbe Farm Museum Committee.

Persons wishing to volunteer their time or groups who wish to have Horste and Wilson make awareness presentations to their organizations should contact them at 699-7968 or 697-4051.

Attention, mothers

A new procedure will be followed this year for the registration of next year's kindergarten students in the Airport Community Schools.

Under the plan, a meeting will be held with the parents only to discuss the kindergarten program and to register the children. Then in April the children will get a chance to visit kindergarten classrooms. In addition, a short screening test will be administered to give teachers and parents more information about each child.

The parent meetings will be held at 2 p.m. March 25 at Eyler School, at 10 a.m. March 27 at Niedermeier School, at 2 p.m. March 27 at Ritter School and at 7 p.m. March 28 at Eyler School.

Parents can contact the schools at 654-2121 (Eyler), 379-5335 (Ritter) and 586-2676 (Niedermeier) by March 22 about the meetings. Registration forms will then be mailed to prospective kindergartners' parents.

Brown, will be located throughout the Belleville business district and the Lakewood Shopping Center to solicit funds for the Wayne County Easter Seal Society.

The Rotarians have also placed canisters in many local business establishments.

All funds raised will remain in Wayne County to help handicapped children and adults reach the maximum development of their potential as accepted and contributing members of society, Brown noted. The Society also provides a year round program of services to handicapped children and adults.

Programs include: Recreational therapy, physical therapy, occupational therapy, human services program, vocational evaluations, equipment loan closet, ramp construction and transportation services.

Voting one's convictions

The Medicaid abortion issue has brought out the best and worst in state legislators.

As with any controversial piece of legislation, several lawmakers have attempted to play the grand game of partisan politics rather than concentrate on the issue itself.

In what has become an annual exercise, Gov. James Blanchard recently vetoed legislation to stop the spending of some $6 million in state monies to fund approximately 19,000 Medicaid abortions. As the House and Senate prepared to take an override vote this week, the politics began in earnest.

One Taylor legislator, obviously unaware of the system of checks and balances, was quoted as saying he would change his vote simply to honor the governor's wishes. No mention of the issue.

Four Republican legislators, upset over a proposed Pro Life organization endorsement of a Democrat in an upcoming state senate special election, threatened to sit out the override voting procedure. Again, the issue proved secondary to an endorsement.

During the intensive lobbying effort, State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton) refused to be drawn into any political game playing. Under pressure to change his vote and favor state-funded abortions for the poor, Kosteva calmly reviewed the various aspects of the legislation and then paid for a scientific study of his constituents.

On Monday Kosteva said he would vote to override the governor's veto, essentially maintaining his previous position against usage of state monies for abortions. He told us that his vote would be based on his research, personal reflections and the results of the survey conducted in the 37th District by Development Research Associates of Plymouth.

We commend Kosteva for voting his conscience and what he perceives to be the opinion of a majority of his constituents regarding the abortion issue. It would have been easy for a freshman legislator to trade his vote for future political considerations. Fortunately for the residents of Van Buren, Wayne, Canton, Belleville and Romulus, Kosteva refused to be swayed from his beliefs.

In terms of integrity and conviction, Kosteva has passed his first major test in the House of Representatives with flying colors. Those both in favor and opposed to state-funded abortions must respect a public servant whose votes are based on issues, not on partisan politics.

Kosteva's approach to decision making on such an emotional issue must be described as "exemplary."

Keller criticized

o the Editor:

Recent newspaper articles ave been less than complimentary toward the services f Van Buren Police Chief eonard Keller, Van Buren ire Department, and Mr. Per- ins, Detective Van Burn ownship and deservingly so. I am not personally in- rested in the details. I am ire the prosecutor has all vell, maybe not all) the in- rmation he needs to deal with e problem.

The fire on Hull Road, I'm ire wasn't the beginning of e dispute between Chief Kel- r and his officers.

At 8 p.m., Sunday, February my husband spotted the use fire on Hull and called e fire department immediate- . At that time the house was ite engulfed. The roads were very bad condition, Ellwell, eft, Hull, and Martz. Natur- ly by the time the fire depart- ent got through the Hunter me was fully engulfed.

It was so sad — the Hunter mily returning from church watched their home burn ile Chief Keller argued with t. Perkins about whether her had the right to be there. ie fire should have been Chief eller's main concern. He owed very poor judgement d a lack of professionalism. Why was he so irate that he uldn't do his job? Did Chief eller just make it to the fire see if Sgt. Perkins was ere? It wasn't important to m that life and property in r township was at stake. A rsonal matter, a petty oblem.

Chief Keller's behavior aves a lot to be desired. Why ould the Chief order two other ficers to arrest Sgt. Perkins? hy did those officers refuse to ey Chief Keller? Does this ll us, the people in Van Buren ownship, anything? It certainly es to me.

I've always thought our fire partment did a super job — d they do. It was Chief Kel- that caused our firemen to drop their hoses to break up the fight between himself and Sgt. Perkins.

Suspended or not suspended, Sgt. Perkins was at the Hull Road fire to do a job. Somehow a lot of us in Van Buren Township feel less safe with Sgt. Perkins on suspension. A man of Sgt. Perkins' caliber would be an asset to any township or city. It is so good to see someone stand up and do something about what has been happening in our township. I'm sure there are some that just can't seem to stand up like Sgt. Perkins. I feel sorry for them — because nothing will change.

Now on the lighter side — Supervisor Hamilton — you have your hands full but we think you are doing a super job.

A final note — Thanks to the Township Water Department for sending two fine gentlemen out to replace our broken water meter.

Rich plan, poor city

To the Editor:

Two months ago I was at a City Council Meeting. I listened to the City Manager, Mayor, and Finance Director tell me how poor the City of Wayne is.

They could not find 30,000 to 60,000 dollars to operate and maintain a new swimming pool. Now I look at the Master Plan to move City Hall, the Court, and the DPW.

To me this means that the "City Fathers" have tried to pull the wool over our eyes again.

Let's get down to basics. When they tore Old Wayne apart many years ago they moved the Court. I'm sure at that time, federal monies were readily available to update our City Hall. Also, the DPW will be moved to make things more comfortable for another department within the city structure.

As for me fellow citizens, I've had it! Let's get back to running all the operations within the City. If there are any funds available to the City of Wayne, put them to use in such a way that we the citizens of Wayne can be proud to say, "It's Great to live in Wayne."

We as citizens over the past 10 years, have had the U.A.W., AFL-CIO, Teamsters, Retail Clerks, etc. tell us we must take concessions. Well, City Fathers, it's your turn. I understand your offices are cramped; department heads need more room to operate their daily routines.

To look at the census, the city of Wayne has not grown much over the years, and as I see it, if it has been good enough all these years, why change it? If we need more room in City Hall, move the Council Meetings to the "Community Center."

As for the Court, have any of the City Fathers looked into making the old M.E.S.C. office into a court?

I'm appalled at this $1.5 million dollar plan to update the city offices. When you really think about it, you have to wonder how paid public officials can sit and tell you, "no" we cannot operate a pool without the people of Wayne paying for it.

Keep in mind fellow citizens, the $1.5 million dollars does not include desks, chairs, filing cabinets, etc. So I'm very anxious to see how the City Fathers can come up with this rich plan for a poor city.

Sale of pornography

To the Editor:

It has become apparent that some small stores in Romulus are selling pornography.

Such pornography has been through magazines. Case in point is the Seven Crown Store, on Wayne Road.

Here the magazines are located across from the cashier stand. But unless we, the good citizens of Romulus, speak up for ourselves, we cannot complain later about the material made available to our youth that is causing a change in America's morale.

Buy American

To the Editor:

I am appalled that the President allowed the foreign import quotas on cars to expire with such ease and understanding of the Japanese problems in world marketing. In Michigan it would do us well, to take the lead and impose higher fees in licensing these vehicles to cover the cost of retraining our workers (loss of jobs), and to extend their unemployment — so that the cost of the unemployment taxes does not raise the price of domestic cars . . . I call that fair!

My husband and I have bought just about every type of American car over the last 30 years, and as the owner of a new 1985 Celebrity, I have to tell you that it is the best yet, 4 Cylinder, good mileage, and so roomy compared to my friends' foreign models.

"Return to sender — unopened"

I'm often made aware of the frequency with which people block out information which they do not want.

The phenomenon is much like the receipt of a letter which is returned to its origin without ever being opened. One would generally take that action if, A) you knew what was in the envelope, but didn't want or need the information, B) you had made up your mind as to the value of what you thought was inside and had concluded that you didn't want or need it, or C) you didn't know and what's more didn't care that treasure or trash might be within.

Our attitude about data transmission, if you will, is most likely to fall into one of the above categories. In society today we are bombarded with information, especially advertising, and so, in order to survive we learn at an early age to filter out information that is unneeded or unwanted.

What happens when you are unsuccessful in penetrating the filter or defense system of those you need to reach with information that they need to have? Then, I guess, the status quo is forever preserved.

Last week we were trying to change the status quo. We were to receive a disk of information via the telephone lines from one computer to another in an effort to operate our new typesetting machine. One computer in Massachusetts was to "talk" to our computer in Wayne. When the conversation was completed between the machines, we mortals knew only that it had taken place — nothing more. Much later we discovered that there had been an imperfect transmission and that the data had a "glitch." Therefore, our typesetter would not operate. The bad information has cost us a great deal of time and money. The point being that the problem in the exchange of information can also sometimes be the transmission of the data.

So it is with people. We often know someone was "told" something, "read" the book, "viewed" the film or video tape, "listened" to the speech or sermon. How can we know, however, what someone understands, has learned, or accepts?

One can have access to the facts in any given situation, but filter out information they choose to reject, or they simply do not activate their cranial neurons.

From the time of the Sermon on the Mount, we're reminded of the ability of man to filter information. The Bible tells us that even then, "Some listened and did not understand, some listened and turned away, others heard, believed and followed."

If we consciously reject information offered to us in good faith by those who have our best interests at heart, then we should, and no doubt, will, pay the consequences of our actions.

The scriptures also tells us, "Knock and the door shall be opened, seek and ye shall find." What happens when God's truth is offered, is there knocking at the door, but the door is never opened? The messenger is sent away with his envelope of needed information unopened. What happens when people don't seek truth, when they're content with misinformation, when they may not actually know it is misinformation, but make no attempt to verify or confirm it? They will, nevertheless, pay the consequences.

attempt, every day, to convey information to employees for their use and benefit. Conversely, employees work to pass on to managers information concerning the realities as they see them of the job for the benefit of the company. If these two reject each other — there are consequences.

When one computer talks to another, good transmission is more a matter of a "clean line" with no distortion. With people, trust becomes a significant factor in whether they hear and believe or hear but do not believe. They fear human distortion and manipulation. Too often they have been taken advantage of by a "smooth talker" and "sold a bill of goods." Once we have been lied to, we tend to be less believing of those same people or in many cases, of anyone. We begin to revert and shut out or filter all manner of information because we "don't know what we can believe."

When that happens, we stop growing. The consequence is that we cease to have any real chance at success and happiness. We go through life with an attitude that "I already know that," "I've already heard that," or "I've heard or seen that before."

I think everyone should take a good long stare into the mirror — if you don't see God looking back at you, then you perhaps should accept that the person looking back at you is somewhat less than perfect. Perhaps a little less ego and a little more listening and learning would be of some benefit and no harm.

Often the "know-it-all" attitudes are a shallow cover up for traits the egotists already subconsciously recognize as shortcomings. They fear that admission of ignorance on any given subject will subject them to ridicule. Generally, that's only true when they're dealing with other egotists.

Perhaps those who accuse others of dishonesty and distortion are of such unpure heart that they see their own dishonesty in every word of those who simply seek to offer information for the benefit of all.

The good people of Roman times were offered a message from a man of Galilee that they didn't want to hear. They already knew all that was needed. He began to make himself a real pest. That fact is, He made quite a spectacle of himself. He spoke of things people didn't want to think about. He asked people to seek a better way, but to accept forgiveness for shortcomings and imperfections.

His teachings were disturbing to a corrupt world bent on self-gratification and preoccupied with its own magnificence. Today we know the truth and wisdom of that man's teachings, although many still reject the message.

I have long since accepted my ignorance and imperfections, but seek knowledge, truth and a better life. I accept the fact that in an effort to stimulate others to do the same I will look foolish to some.

I'm willing to risk it. What the world needs is a clear channel with less distortion. Better communication and a better environment in which to learn of the world and its problems will result.

Perhaps such a world would make us less inclined to return the message unopened to the sender.

See you next week.

dan's dogs

by dan a. morris available by writing to him in care of Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184. He will reply in this column.

Remember the Peter Sellers' movie — Inspector Clouseau is hanging onto what appears to be a vicious dog and when asked by someone approaching, "Does your dog bite?" he answers, "No." The stranger is attacked by the dog and in his last breath says "I thought you said your dog didn't bite." Inspector Clouseau answers, "Yes, but this isn't my dog!"

Regardless of how many times you caution people about the possibility of a dog biting, they often ignore common sense when approaching one. A dog owner has a responsibility, if not an obligation, to protect strangers and friends, thereby avoiding the possible threat of a law suit, should someone be bitten by the family dog.

Situation: You are out walking the dog, someone approaches and without asking permission, bends over to pet the dog. Then he asks, "Does he bite?"

Solution: The proper way to approach a dog is in a direct, but calm manner from the front, stopping at a safe distance, should the dog try to lunge at you.

Only after the owner agrees, should you approach his dog. Extend your hand, palm up, over the head of the dog. Let the dog smell your hand to identify you as friendly. When you feel it is safe, pet the dog.

Children, especially, should be cautioned to never hug a strange dog around the neck, for this may cause the dog to either back off, or bite.

Situation: While walking your dog you are startled by another dog running toward yours. Both dogs begin to fight. Your natural instinct is to protect your dog.

Solution: Instantly drop the leash and back away! This will give your dog freedom to protect himself. It is a "must" that you back away to a safe distance and "freeze."

Above all, once the fighting starts, never extend your hand to pull your dog away. Dogs have two-trackminds and their instinct is to bite anything that moves, even you! If your dog attacks you, the other dog, being a pack animal, will join that attack against you.

Situation: Children playing in the park, run toward the stray dog wandering onto the play area.

Solution: Never approach a stray dog or run from it. Running encourages the dog to use its natural instinct to chase prey. The dog jumps up, pulling its prey down. (Also, a wagging tail is not an indication of friendliness. I have been bitten many times by a dog with a wagging tail.) The subject of safety is endless. In the future we will cover aggression; proper safety in obedience classes; safety procedures in the veterinarian's clinic; how to restrain a dog; why you shouldn't pick up strays; why dogs become overly protective while eating, inside the car, or their perimeter of the backyard, and other subjects.

We will always have to contend with the problem of dogs reacting in a negative manner until someday every dog owner will be required, by law, to gain training education at a qualified school. By doing so, the dog bite problem would drop by more than 80 percent.

Sayer joins D.C. lobby

James Sayer, a cash crop and vegetable grower from Belleville, joined a group of farmers and cooperative officials who travelled to Washington, D.C., March 6-8 to lobby Congress for legislation to ease farm credit problems.

More than 120 farmer-members, directors and officials from the 12 districts of the national Farm Credit System took part in the Washington legislative fly-in. A 30-member delegation represented the Seventh District, headquartered in St. Paul, Minn., which provides credit and financial services to farmers and their cooperatives in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The fly-in was organized by the Farm Credit Council, the System's national trade association.

"Our goal is to bring more grass-roots voices from rural America to Washington to urge Congress and the Administration to agree on consistent long-term agricultural and economic policies," said Phil Hein, Farm Credit Services, St. Paul District board chairman and dairy farmer from Stratford, Wis.

"The ability of Federal Land Bank Associations, Production Credit Associations and other lenders to provide credit to agriculture is dependent on a strong farm income. Farm income is directly affected by national economic policies."

Robichaud wins 'B' district crown at Inkster expense

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Giving credence to the saying that "if first you don't succeed, try, try again," Robichaud turned back Inkster 84-78 before a capacity crowd in the Dearborn Heights-based school gym on Saturday to capture the Class B district basketball championship.

The Robichaud victory enabled the Bulldogs to qualify for the Class B regionals which got underway this week at River Rouge. Coach William Ayler's Bulldogs were scheduled to play Hamtramck last night (Tuesday), and the winner will advance to the championship round where they will meet the survivor of the Monroe Catholic Central and Aquinas game.

The championship will be decided 7:30 p.m. on Friday. "It was a very big victory for our team," said Coach Ayler. "They had beaten us twice during the regular season and our kids were determined to take this one."

Inkster brought the curtains down on a 20-2 over-all season which included a record 18-game winning streak and sole possession of the prestigious Suburban Athletic Conference championship.

Although he was disappointed in the outcome of the game, Inkster coach George Thompson Jr. had nothing but praise for his players. "They've accomplished a lot this season. There are not very many teams that can boast a 20-2 record and a conference championship."

Thompson however said he was disappointed in the caliber of officiating at the finals, however. "The game was decided at the free throw line where they (Robichaud) got 22 of 28 and we had only 4 of 6. Although people say that it is difficult to beat a team three straight in one season, I believe if the game had been called evenly, it would have been a better game totally and not a free-throw shooting contest."

Robichaud unleashed a balanced scoring attack that was tough to stop. Four of the Bulldog players reached double scoring figures with Jarvis Walker and Dennis McIntosh each collecting 21 points. Omar Galbraith added 20 while Ray Carreathers finished with 10.

Inkster's Anthony White wound up as the game's individual scoring leader as he pumped in 13 field goals and made three of four at the charity line for 29 points. William Springer chipped in 13 and Ray Davis counted 10.

Uncontested, Wayne Memorial's Polis Robertson (40) soars toward the basket for two of his points that helped lift the Zebras to the Class A district championship.

Wayne adds district title to record year

By KEITH A. DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

As the clock ticked off the final seconds to Friday evening's district championship game between the Zebras of Wayne Memorial High School and the Mustangs of Northville, the small but very vocal group of partisan Wayne fans stood up and broke into the Zebras fight song.

They were not only paying tribute to the 15 young men wearing the blue and gold of Wayne who were about to clinch a 63-40 victory and the school's first district crown since 1961, but they were also paying tribute to the team that had posted a school record 21 victories.

For these young men and their coaches, Chuck Henry and Tim Cullen, "it is a moment they will cherish forever," the coaches said.

"The victory means that we achieved all the realistic goals we had set before the season began," said Henry, enjoying his first district championship ever. "We won our league, won the Christmas Tournament on our own floor, won the City Championship game against Glenn, and now the district title."

But they can't cherish it too long, because the Zebras will travel to Eastern Michigan University's Bowen Fieldhouse Wednesday to take on Detroit Southwestern, the Public School League champion.

Of course, Wayne almost didn't get to cherish any championship moments because Plymouth Salem nearly threw a monkey wrench into their plans. But Wayne, like the mailman, couldn't be kept from its appointed rounds and rebounded from a 10-point deficit late in the third quarter for an exciting 60-58 double overtime victory on a Mark Robinson shot at the buzzer.

"In that game," said Henry, "we were tight probably because people expected us to win. We came out really relaxed against Northville."

If Wayne was nearly surprised by Salem, they must have taken a double take when Northville upset Westland John Glenn, 72-65, to force their way into the finals.

"Anything can happen in a state tournament," said Henry. "It was one of those times when records meant nothing."

No matter who they played, Wayne was ready. And since it was Northville, they took them on with the same vengeance they had used in disposing of 20 previous opponents.

But not until the Mustangs and their version of the "Bruise Brothers" (John Storm and Greg Wendel) had their say in the first Wayne fans and cheerleaders have something to cheer about this season as their Zebras polished off the Wolverine "A" Conference championship with a perfect 12-0 record then annexed the Class A district crown at Plymouth Salem to qualify for the first time in over 15 years for the regional tournament.

'Unthinkable happens': Ypsi upsets Romulus

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus's 1984-85 basketball season came to an abrupt and surprise end Friday night in Ypsilanti where the Ypsilanti Braves scored a 70-67 upset victory in the championship round of the Class A district playoffs.

The two teams had split earlier in the campaign, setting up the showdown in the finals.

"We had our chances and failed to capitalize on the opportunities when they were at hand," said Romulus coach Al Wilkerson whose team finished the year with a 19-4 won-lost record. "We can do a lot of second guessing now, but it won't help."

"But they (Ypsi) shot a torrid 73 percent from the field and it's tough beating any team that can do that."

Romulus reached the finals by edging Temperance Bedford in the first round, then destroying Monroe 78-58, behind Terry Mills' 24 points while Ypsilanti buried Belleville in the first round and ousted Adrian in the semi-finals.

Low-scoring the first eight minutes, Ypsi took a slim 12-10 edge, then each team put 20 points on the scoreboard in the second frame giving the hosts a 32-30 edge at intermission. Romulus came back after the half and outscored the Braves 13-12, making it 44-43, heading into the final quarter.

With 4:11 left in the game, Romulus found itself trailing by five. Mills' connected on a jump shot that closed the gap to 56-53. The Eagles immediately capitalized on a Ypsi turnover when Stevie Glenn stole the ball and drove in for a lay-up. Glenn however was called for charging and Anthony Knox then hit on a jumper to make it 58-53.

Romulus's problems compounded when the inbound pass to Glenn jetted out-of-bounds. Ypsi came back with Roosevelt Rawls' basket from the top of the key to put the Braves ahead 60-55.

With 3:29 remaining Romulus still was very much in the game as Mills was fouled and sank the front end of a one-and-one, closing the gap. But Duane Tubbs' jump shot and two successive Eagle miscues provided the Braves with the incentive they needed to keep the lead.

Glenn came through with a layup with Mills getting the assist to make it 61-59 and Ypsilanti immediately asked for a "time out". Wilkerson decided that his team would revert to a man-to-man defense and when play resumed Rawls sank a 25-footer giving the Braves a 63-59

Robertson nominated to McDonald's All American

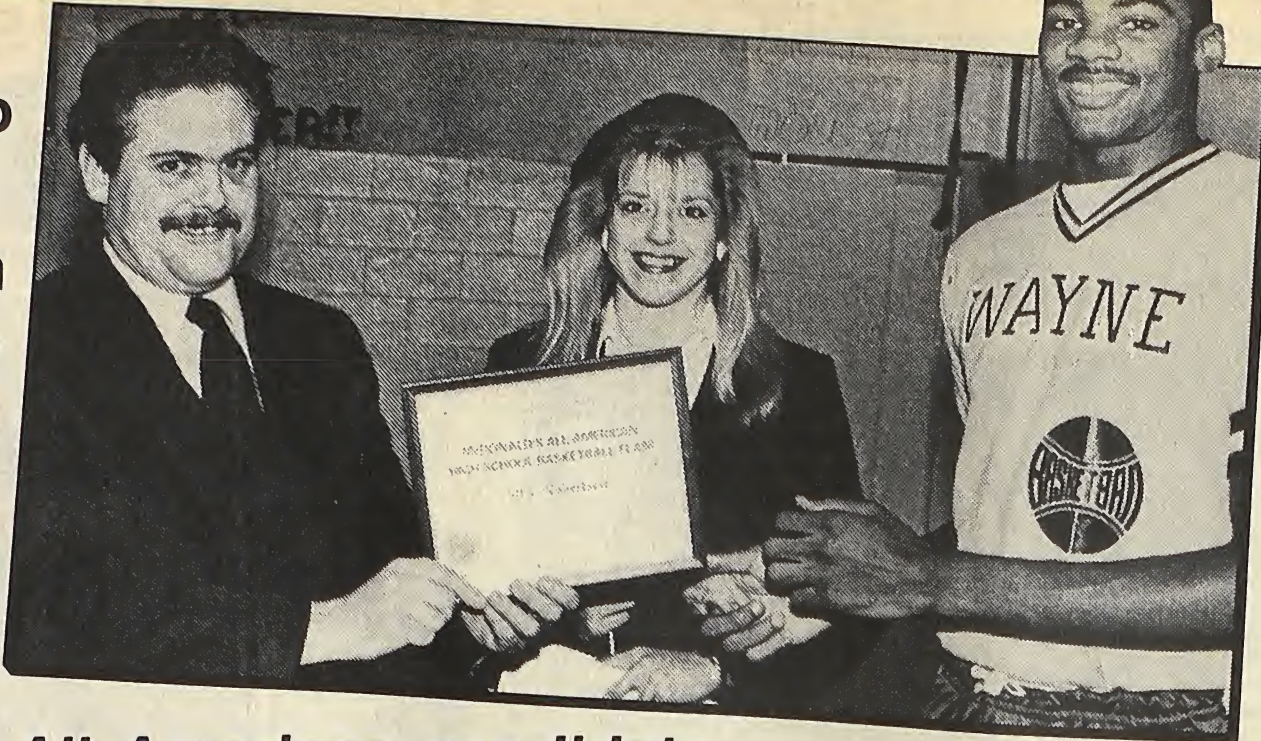

Pollis Robertson of Wayne Memorial has been nominated to the 1985 McDonald's All American High School Basketball Team.

Robertson is one of 1,000 prep cagers in the nation nominated by McDonald's All American Basketball Team Selection Committee, a geographically-diverse committee of high school basketball coaches and sportswriters, headed by Morgan Wootten, coach of DeMatha High School in Hyattville, MD, one of the top-ranked high school teams in the country.

As a nominee, the 6 foot, 6½ inch forward is in the running to be one of the 25 members selected to the 1985 McDonald's All American High School Basketball Team. The Selection Committee, a geographically-diverse committee of high school basketball coaches and sportswriters, is headed by Morgan Wootten.

Robertson has led Wayne to its first class A district and Wolverine 'A' conference championships.

All-American candidate

A post-season honor was bestowed upon Wayne Memorial's outstanding cager, Pollis Robertson, (at right) who was informed by Tom Stratton, manager of the McDonald's Restaurant in Wayne (at left) and Tammie Fling, community relations for the restaurant chain, that he was nominated as a candidate for the prestigious All-American high school basketball team. The team is sponsored nationally by McDonald's.

game average and leads the Zebras in rebounding and assist. He is coached by Chuck Henry.

McDonald's All American Basketball Team was formed in 1977 to recognize and honor outstanding young athletes. The team is selected by the McDonald's All American Basketball Team Selection Committee headed by John Wooden, legendary coach of ten national collegiate championships when he was at UCLA.

Former McDonald's All Americans include such college and pro stars as Earvin "Magic" Johnson, Mark Agary, Ralph Sampson, Michael Jordan, Pat Ewing, Wayman Tisdale and Chris Mullin.

The selected members of McDonald's 1985 All American High School Basketball Team will participate in the eighth annual McDonald's All American Game to be held in Dallas on April 13 at Moody Colliseum, home of the Southern Methodist University Mustangs. Proceeds from this unique "East vs. West" game will be donated to the Ronald McDonald Houses of Dallas and Ft. Worth.

"We're really excited that Pollis Robertson has been recognized as one of the top basketball players in the country," said Tammie Fling. "He's an exceptionally-talented athlete and a real credit to the Zebras and Wayne." Pollis is the son of Ruby Robertson of 5712 Hickory Hollow in Wayne.

quarter. Wendel scored a bucket and Storm a free throw as the Mustangs took a 5-4 lead at the 6:09 mark and visions of still another upset danced in their heads.

However, those thoughts were dashed 1:28 later when the Zebras 6'2" forward Howard Flowers canned one of his specialty shots from outside and Wayne led 7-5, a lead they would not relinquish.

Northville managed to stay close and only trailed, 9-8, at the 2:16 mark when Storm scored. But Wayne, with buckets from Flowers, Alvin Allen and Dave Reynolds, closed out the period with a 6-2 run and a 15-10 lead.

Slowly but surely, Wayne began pulling away in the second period and it was none other than 6-6 center Pollis Robertson that led the way. The Wisconsin-bound senior started 11 of his game-high 16 points in the quarter as the Zebras built a 26-16 lead by the 3:24 mark.

"Pollis played pretty good," said Henry. "He held us on the boards with the big guys."

Just when it seemed Wayne was going to run away and hide, the Mustangs made an attempt to get back into the game. Don Norton completed a three-point play with 1:20 left to cut the deficit to 30-21, and cut it even further, 30-23, with seven seconds left.

But Robertson ensured the Zebras a 9-point lead with a shot two seconds before halftime.

For those who have followed the Zebras all season, they know that these young men in blue and gold would put the game in their pocket in the third quarter.

And they didn't let their fans down, either. After allowing the Mustangs to close the gap to 32-26 on a three-point play by Storm (he led Northville with 12 points, Reynolds gave Wayne a 39-28 lead with a three-point play of his own at the 3:53 mark.

The Zebras outscored Northville, 8-2, the rest of the quarter capped by Jim Todoroff's jumper at the 1:37 mark that sent the Zebra fans into ecstasy.

The Zebras continued that mastery into the final quarter, building a 47-32 lead into the final 63-40 margin. Flowers' bucket at the 6:41 mark gave them a 51-32 lead, then Robertson put an exclamation point on the season with a flying slam dunk 1:08 later.

When Joel Lloyd hit a lay-up shortly before the buzzer, the Zebras and their fans celebrated with pride the realization of a dream.

Now it is onto EMU and Southwestern, a team that Henry described as "one that plays a full-court style of basketball and that uses the full-court press. But it'll be a good game. We realize from the summer league that they're a good team. We're looking forward to it."

But, for now, the Zebras, their fans, and their coaches, will indeed cherish this moment forever.

Ex-Inkster cage star is honored by GLIAC

Ferris State College forwards George Davis (Inkster) and Katy Kelley (Big Rapids) have been named to their respective All-Great Lakes Conference basketball teams by vote of the league's coaches.

Davis, a 6-foot-4 sophomore, averaged 11.7 points per GLIAC game and was third in the conference in field goal percentage (55.9). His shooting touch helped the Bulldogs finish at 14-13 overall and in a third place tie in the league (8-8) behind Saginaw Valley and Grand Valley.

Kelley had an outstanding senior year for Ferris and led the GLIAC in scoring with an 18.8 average. She scored a total of 510 points to set a single-season record for Bulldog women's basketball and placed fifth in the league with her school-record free throw percentage rate (77.9) Ferris completed the 1984-85 season with a 13-15 record and a share of sixth place in the GLIAC at 6-10.

Kelley also set school records for free throws made (88), field goals in a game (13) and field goals in a season (211), scored 20 or more points in her

Close most of the first three quarters — Inkster led 16-15 at the end of one, while Robichaud was in command 39-36 at intermission and managed to outscore their visitors 21-17 in the third frame. The Bulldogs built up an incredible 18-point lead early in the fourth period before White led a Viking comeback. He sank 21 of his 29 points in the second half.

Inkster came within four of closing the gap, but it never got the equalizer.

Robichaud will take an 18-4 won-lost record in the regional tournament.

Regional gymnastics

Displaying championship form, pre-tourney favorite Troy captured the Class A regional girls' gymnastics title at Westland John Glenn on Saturday.

Wayne finished in the middle of the pack with 114.4 while the Westlanders were 13 with 111.45.

"It was an excellent tournament," said Jean Hawley, who rounded out her eighth year as Glenn's head coach. "Troy is usually a contender for the state title and this year's team could easily finish atop of the Class A standing."

Wayne and Glenn failed to qualify anyone for the state. Wayne was represented at the Coaches pick top N-W cagers

For the last time, the six head basketball coaches of the Northwest Suburban League gathered together and chose the six young men who comprise the 1984-85 All-League basketball squad.

The NWSL will still exist but without three of its original members — Livonia Franklin, North Farmington, and Westland John Glenn. Earlier in the fall, they announced that all three have been accepted as members in the Western Lakes Activities Association and will start play in that league in September.

At any rate, the six coaches got together and chose the final all-league team.

Three players were unanimous choices for the team and they were Rick Anderson, forward from North Farmington, guard Mike Baydarian (Glenn), and Dennis Bushart (Redford Union). Other members of the first team were Bob Chwalik (North), Steve Dunning (Garden City), and Steve Freier (Garden City).

A second team was also selected, with Glenn's Phil Koeller, Garden City's Skip Barnett, Kevin Sheridan, and Dave Wegzyn, Livonia Franklin's Jeff McCaw, and Thur-

Among best in Northwest

Driving in for this lay-up is Westland John Glenn's senior, Mike Baydarian, who is among the all-time scoring leaders for the Rockets. Baydarian closed out his prep cage career last week when Northville ousted the Westlanders in the semi-final round of the Class A district playoffs, but before he hung up his jersey the hard-working senior guard was named to the Northwest Suburban Conference's all-league team.

ston's Scott Filipiak landing berths on that team.

Something new this season was the selection of an All-Academic team. The stipulation for this team was that they had to have at least a 3.5 GPA and start most of the games.

Representing the Rockets were Baydarian, Gerry Diete-Spiff, and Koeller. Other members of the team were Rick Anderson and Paul Wahrmann (North), McCaw (Franklin), Dave Wegzyn (Garden City), and Filipiak (Thurston).

Mitchell, Gibson finish 2nd in state at wrestling finals

Wayne Memorial and Westland John Glenn produced two of the finest high school wrestlers in the state this year in Tim Mitchell and Dan Gibson.

Mitchell, a 138-pounder who earned a regional title as a member of Wayne Memorial and Coach John Wood's team, ended his prep wrestling career at Grand Valley State College two weeks ago with a silver medal.

Mitchell had the dubious honor of wrestling perennial state champ and nationally-ranked, Pat Boyd of Mt. Pleasant. Boyd, who has racked up an incredible 167-1 won-lost record, defeated the Wayne senior in the state finals by a 5:58 fall.

"Boyd is just an outstanding young athlete," noted Wood. "His record speaks for itself and Tim did an excellent job against him."

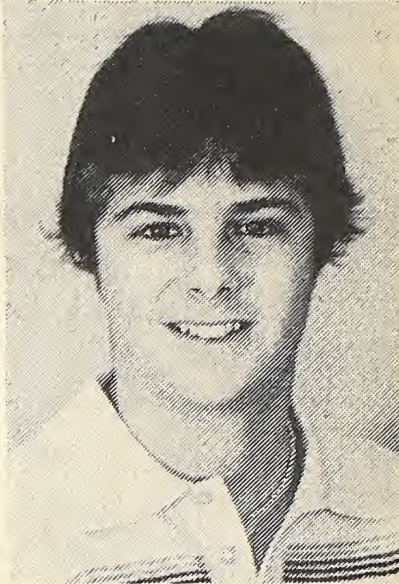

Gibson lost to Warren Lincoln's Sam Amine in the closing seconds of their thrilling match, 2-1. The loss left the Westlander with a silver medal at state, only one of two produced by area prep wrestlers.

"Dan has been outstanding for us all year," said Glenn coach Tom Buckalew. "He lost in the finals in the last seconds and the 2-1 score is indicative of the closeness of the match."

Wayne also received a fifth place performance from its regional champ, Ed Fowler, who defeated 132-pounder Dennis Crowe of Jenison in the consolation round.

Wayne had also qualified Danny Shareef (145) who had finished second at the regional and Tim Mulroy (167) also a second place finisher at the regional for state. Glenn's only other state qualifier was Dan Schimansky who finished third at the regional.

Romulus upset in district finals lead.

With 1:35 left, Glenn and Mills both missed jump shots from around their 10-foot marker and Jai Simon was fouled going after the rebound. Simons sank both ends of the one-and-one, closing the gap to 63-61. Ypsi began a stall with 45 seconds remaining and Glenn, in an effort to get the ball, fouled Brian Kennedy who sank one of two (64-61) as Mills got the rebound.

"Our strategy was to try to get the ball inside for the three-point play," Wilkerson explained, "and we sent Glenn to the corner and Mills inside."

However, the strategy backfired when Rawls managed to strip Mills of the ball. He was fouled heading down court.

Rawls made both charities, lifting the Braves to a 66-61 lead with 24 seconds left. Mills came back with a basket, cutting the lead again to three (66-63) and in the frenzy to steal the ball, the Eagles fouled Tubbs who sank a pair of free throws (68-63). Glenn then connected on a short jumper to make it a 68-65 game with eight seconds remaining.

After a controversial attempt to call a time out by Ypsi's Anthony Knox, play resumed with Mills fouling Rawls, who put the game out of reach when he sank both ends of an one-and-one.

Mills managed to come back and hit a jump shot for his final shot as a junior. His 28 points also gave him a record as he broke his uncle, Nate Davis's single season scoring mark. Mills amassed 598 points during the 23-game campaign.

Glenn also finished in double scoring figures with 22, while Ypsi countered with three players in two figures. Rawls's 22 was high for the team, while Tubbs had 20 and Knox finished with 16.

Belle's
Chicken with local flavor

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Managing Editor

In terms of national sales, Kentucky Fried Chicken ranks as the top fast-food chicken outlet, followed by Church's and Popeye's. Further down the top 10 list are such national franchises as Bojangles and Chicken Fillet.

Nowhere, but nowhere, will one find the name "Belle's Chicken" on any national charts.

But that fact doesn't bother Belle's Chicken owner Pam Brigandi one bit. She's more than content with satisfying customers in the Belleville and Romulus areas. And judging from reactions to date, Belle's Chicken is quickly becoming number one here in terms of quality of product and service.

"People are eating more and more chicken," explained Brigandi, who along with her husband, Phil, also operates the Brass Belle Restaurant and Brass Connection Lounge in Belleville. "After all, a meal of chicken, mashed potatoes and cole slaw is a lot more nourishing than a hamburger, fries and a shake."

"We survive on local people... this is not a franchise," she declared. "The key is good food, good service and consistency everyday. Repeat business is our bloodline."

Belle's Chicken will mark its third anniversary Saturday with specials at its original location, 887 Sumpter Road in the Belle Plaza, and its new site (Belle's Chicken II) at 9267 South Wayne Road in Romulus.

In addition to a varied chicken menu, Belle's offers hickory smoked ribs, Canadian cod, shrimp and several sandwiches, including a popular steak hoagie ($3.10). A slab of ribs is priced at $5.50 while a three-piece fish dinner, complete with french fries, homemade cole slaw and roll, costs $3.60. Salads, homemade baked beans and rice pudding, soups and side dishes complement the menu.

Pam Brigandi displays some of the chicken, ribs and cod that are featured at Belle's Chicken outlets in Belleville and Romulus.

But, of course, chicken is the highlight. A three-piece dinner ($3.10) also features mashed potatoes, gravy, cole slaw and a roll. Quantities range from a snack (two pieces) to a barrel (21). Daily specials offer savings on chicken purchases and are advertised in the restaurant.

Belle's chicken outlets specialize in carry-out orders and offer some seating in the restaurant. Hours are 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., Sunday through Thursday, and 11 a.m. to 10 p.m., Friday and Saturday. Catering is available.

"We sell a larger piece of chicken than other places," Brigandi revealed. "We cut a 2 1/4 pound chicken into eight pieces instead of nine. There is a secret recipe for the breading and seasoning."

Jill Buy and Donald Graves serve as managers of the outlets. Phone orders can be placed by calling 699-5700 (Belleville area) or 942-1144 (Romulus area).

PUBLICATION

The publisher reserves the right to edit or reject and properly classify advertising submitted for publication. Publisher shall not be held liable for typographical errors except to the extent of the cost of first insertion and then only for that portion of ad that may have been rendered valueless by such error. Advertisers are advised to check their ad immediately after it appears in the paper and report at once any error found. Claims for error adjustment must be made immediately after ad is published.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD
CLASSIFIED AD

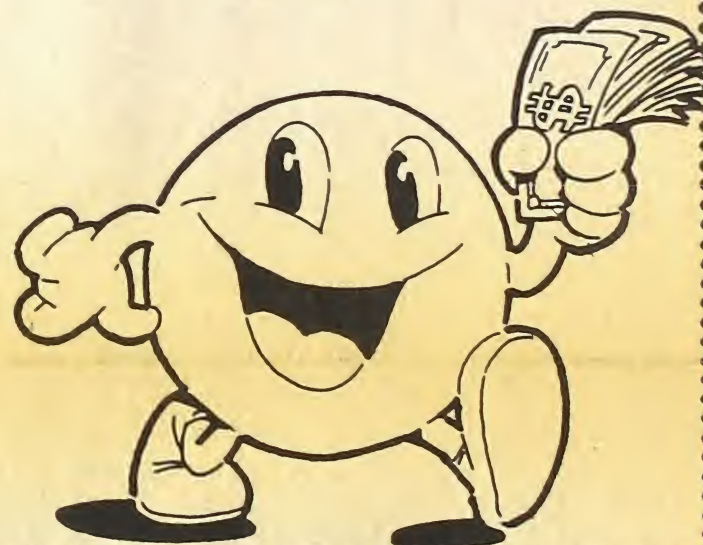

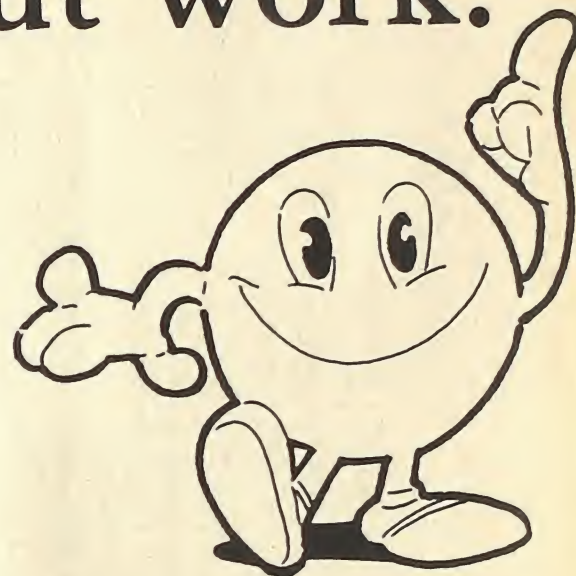

1. IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the item or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, it's better to start your advertisement with the location.
2. BE CLEAR. Readers react more quickly and favorably when they can quickly and clearly understand the details of your advertisement. One of the most important considerations of any advertisement is to include the price.
3. MAKE IT EASY for the reader to reach you. ALWAYS include your telephone number or your name and address if you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time to have your prospect contact you.
4. PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good classified ad.
5. CLASSIFIED READERS ARE already interested in buying used or new merchandise. These people have the money and are in the market to buy. Give them every advantage you can with good ad copy.
6. CLASSIFIED ADS THAT FAIL to do so through a lack of readability, but because they are often quickly written and do not contain enough information to prompt action.

Hmm., What's this?

I'll put an ad in the

A 'five Story' home

Dream house has a touch of 'Tara'

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

If Scarlet O'Hara saw it, she'd think she had arrived at Tara, but when Larry and Kathy Story see it, it's just "home, sweet home."

The subject of curious stares and quick glances from passers-by, the Storys' Southern antebellum-style home seems out of place along a somewhat rural looking Glenwood Road, west of Newburgh Road. Its size alone, which dominates the almost two-acre parcel of land it is situated on, is enough to attract attention.

But according to the Storys, "it's not a museum; it's not a place to show off ... it's a place to raise (their) family in."

The Story home could well be the largest in the City of Wayne. It has 4,700 square feet of living space, in addition to a 2,500-square foot unfinished basement and a 1,200-square

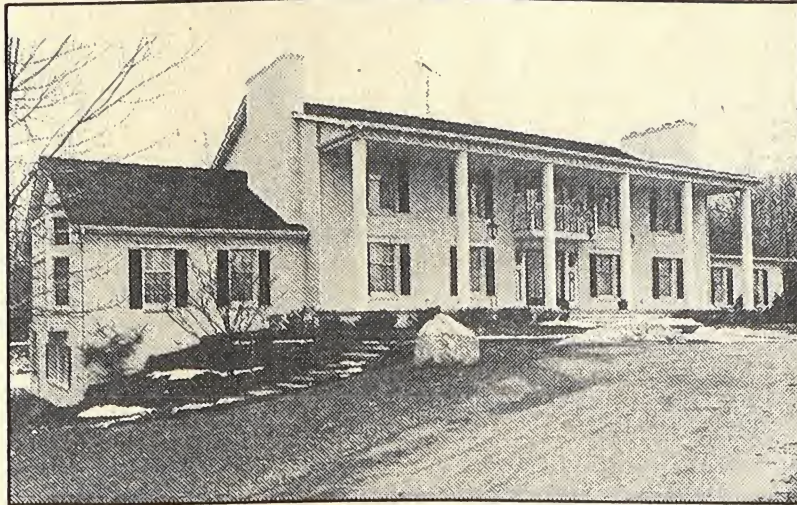

Admittedly, the site "wasn't the best spot" to build such a home, but a pragmatic Story believes "everybody's got to live someplace, and we live here."

The home, which was listed with Century 21-Cook Real Estate at $399,000, was purchased by a fellow Wayne family, who beat out such notables as Detroit Tigers pitcher Willie Hernandez and singer Aretha Franklin, for an undisclosed amount.

The home, however, based on the impression given by the Storys, was a work of love, whose final sale price doesn't reflect its actual cost.

It has 17 rooms, including four bathrooms, a formal dining room, family room and rec room, and plenty of closet space, something Kathy claims is a must to keep such a large home neat.

"It's not difficult to keep clean," she said. "There's enough closet space, so that ev-

A double Hampton staircase, with 168 turned posts, dominates the entranceway to the sprawling antebellum-style home of Larry and Kathy Story in Wayne. The Story's dream house has 17 rooms, including four bathrooms, formal dining room, breakfast nook, family room and recreation room. Situated on Glenwood west of Newburgh Road, the home is reminiscent of Scarlett O'Hara's beloved Tara.

To one side is the music room, while to the other is a cozy looking foyer, decorated with Victorian furniture and an 1866 William Knabe square piano, the Storys' pride and joy among the "usable" antiques they collect. A marble fireplace with a Morgan mantle, polished hardwood floor and an imported French chandelier and matching sconces add to the room's warmth.

An imported Spanish chandelier is suspended from a rosette-patterned stuccoed ceiling in the formal dining room, looking delicate compared to the heavy wood dining set that dominates it.

The family room has a country flavor. One wall is of reclaimed brick, also used for the wet bar, and compliments the barn wood, salvaged from a more than 100-year-old barn that was razed in Canton Township, on the remaining walls. Beaming accents the ceiling, with straw mixed into the stucco to add to the country flavor.

The chandelier is a large wagon wheel, which Story converted to a lighting fixture himself, that dangles on heavy chains from the center of the ceiling and opposite to a 10-window, floor-to-ceiling bay window, that has a panoramic foot raised wooden deck that traverses the rear of the home.

It is home for the family of five, but not for long, as they prepare to move to Virginia, where Story, a contractor by profession, foresees the growth spurt that has apparently slowed to a crawl in Michigan.

"Michigan's economy over the next 10 to 15 years won't expand like it did in the last 10 to 15 years," he explained of his decision to go back to where his roots are. "By all the projections I've seen, the South is the place to be."

The home they will leave behind is their dream house, designed by Plymouth architect Robert Novak, with a healthy dose of ideas from the couple.

everything has its place. The bigger the house the better able you are to keep it clean than a smaller home." She should know. Their previous home was 1,500 square feet in size.

She does have help, a housekeeper, who comes in once every other week, depending on the family's schedule. In the case of a party or such, she may be there twice in one week.

Lace-curtained double doors off a pillared portico with oversized swag carriage lamps, opens into a wood and tile entranceway, framed by a double Hampton staircase that's the showcase for the Strauss crystal chandelier.

Victorian furnishings and an antique William Knabe square piano decorate the foyer of the Story's home.

Story home captures flavor of antebellum South

the Storys eat most of their meals. The chandelier is from Mexico and fits in well with the combination wood and ceramic tile floor.
Around the corner from the nook is a bathroom and bedroom the basin located in the dressing room area. Daughters Cindy, 5, and Angie, 15, share a spacious step-up-to, sunken bathtub, although the Storys' admit that Angie's choice of the tub has now faded to interests in showers and a 6 a.m.

Recessed lighting and built-ins give the kitchen an uncluttered, airy appearance. According to Kathy Story, the design of the kitchen, with its island counter, permits four or five people to work in there at the same time without bumping into each other. Through the hallway is the formal dining room, with the breakfast nook at the other end of the kitchen.

"I think the new owners might be overwhelmed by this. We're not because we grew into it as it was being built. It's not a museum, it's not a place to show off . . . we live in it."

that can be used as a servant's quarters, while a short step from there is the laundry room, with such special touches as a dumb waiter to ferry clothing to the upstairs and vice versa and built-in hookups for the washer to avoid having a hose dangling in the sink. There's even a built-in ironing board, which Kathy admits wouldn't get much use, if it weren't for her interest in sewing.
The double staircase, made of oak and birch and containing 168 turned posts, leads to the family's four bedroom suites. Story is opposed to the idea of walking down the hall to use the bathroom, so each room has its own, with his two daughters sharing one situated between their rooms.
Son Brandon's bathroom features a modular tub unit with wake up call for her parents as she trots down the hall to her father's built-in shower.

The youngsters' rooms are spacious, a feature Kathy wanted because of her aversion to beds being pushed against walls, and the door reflects in-pout from them.
The master bedroom has its own fireplace with a Mexican ceramic tile face and Morgan mantle, as well as a cathedral ceiling and Casablanca fan with tulip lights. The attached bathroom features a separate enclosed shower with heat vent lighting — to avoid a chill when stepping from the shower — and linen closet — to handle Story's cry for someone to get him a towel.

The step-up-to sunken bathtub is set off by specially designed ceramic tile and is opposite a lighted makeup mirror centered between the shower and the water closet.
The home, admittedly, is overwhelming to the newcomer, but the Storys accept it for what it is. In fact, they admit that their casual attitude about it may stem from them literally growing into the home while it was being built.
"I think the new owners might be overwhelmed by this," Kathy said. "We're not because we grew into it as it was being built. It's not a museum, it's not a place to show off . . . we live in it."
As the Storys prepare to leave their home of five years, they also are preparing for a new task, building a suitable home down South. Story already has begun work on the design — this time it will be a ranch, although he admits he still has the plans for this home — and a real estate agent has been given the task of finding a suitable lot, which they say, in Southern terms, is usually an acre.

Will they miss the home of their dreams? The answer is yes, but then the excitement of designing and decorating a new home tinges that sadness.
"Everybody has to live someplace," Story commented. "We planned and worked on this for years, it's sort of our dream house. But once you've had, it doesn't do that much for you."
"Maybe this wasn't the best spot to build a place like this. I could have gotten a lot more for it, if I'd built it 30 miles north of here, but I built it here to live in, not for a profit. It wasn't good from an investment standpoint, but it was what we wanted and where we wanted."
"I believed that this was one of the last of the best pieces of property in the City of Wayne."

Orchestra Hall sells plaster reliefs to mark restoration

Orchestra Hall has announced the sale of plaster reliefs to commemorate the restoration of the Hall's exterior. The reliefs, made of white-washed plaster and measuring 37½ by 24½ inches, are being executed by local artist Oscar Graves. They are being offered in a limited edition of 100 reliefs, and each one is signed and numbered by the artist.
Each relief is hand-made from molds used in the actual restoration process, and depict the ancient die-ty associated with the arts. The reliefs are being offered for $100 each and represent a tax-deductible contribution to Orchestra Hall.

The demolition of Orchestra Hall was prevented in 1970 by a group known as Save Orchestra Hall. Graves was engaged to restore the intricate plaster reliefs and sculpture which bore the brunt of the hall's deterioration. A team of experts had said the work couldn't be done, however, Graves proved the experts wrong.

His beautifully detailed work is the visual centerpiece of the acoustically perfect concert hall. All of the decorative plaster work has been repaired or reproduced by Graves.
Graves was trained at the Cranbrook Academy of Fine Arts and is an architectural sculpture expert. He has been commissioned to create the commemorative plaques for the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame.
To reserve a sculpture call 833-3362 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Strunk--Lyons exchange vows

The First United Methodist Church of Belleville was decorated with an altar centerpiece of assorted blue silk flowers, roses, carnations and daisies, potted poinsettias and candelabra for the Dec. 15 nuptial of Kathy Ann Lyons of Belleville and James E. Strunk, also of Belleville.

The bride is the daughter of Pauline Lyons of Belleville, and Kenneth Lyons.

Sixty-five guests were in attendance for the double-ring ceremony, officiated by the Rev. George Spencer. Gwen Ashe was the organist, while pianist Gary Vogel and Karen Lyons were the soloists.

Given in marriage by her father, she chose a marquisette over taffeta gown, with Chantilly lace accents. The lace accented a pleated front panel of the skirt. The gown featured a Queen Anne neckline, bare back and chapel train. Her chapel-length veil was edged in Chantilly lace.

Her bouquet, made by her mother, was of white roses, carnations, dark blue rosebuds and baby's breath.

The bride asked her sister, Suzanne Whittaker, to serve as her matron of honor. She wore a Victorian-style gown in blue-stone taffeta with an ivory lace bodice. She carried a bouquet of assorted blue roses, carnations, dark blue rosebuds and baby's breath, and her headpiece was made up of blue flowers, roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Serving as bridesmaids were Karen Lyons, sister of the bride, and Dana Whittaker, niece of the bride. Their gowns matched that of the honor attendant's, and they carried bouquets of assorted blue flowers with baby's breath. Their headpieces were made up of small assorted blue roses, carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

The silk flower arrangements worn and carried by the bridal party were made by the bride's mother.

The groom asked Rodney Whittaker, brother-in-law of the bride, to perform the duties of best man. Serving as ushers were Thomas Lyons, brother of the bride, and Timothy Whittaker, nephew of the bride.

Ms. Lyons chose a floor-length rose beige silk two-piece gown for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was made of pink carnations and baby's breath.

A reception for the newlyweds and their 125 guests was held at the Ypsilanti Armory. Table candles, festive holiday colors, and large blue bells, suspended from the ceiling, decorated the hall.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Little Caesar's.

Following a four-day honeymoon in Niagra Falls, Canada, the couple moved into their new residence on Henry Street in Belleville.

The new Mrs. Strunk is a 1979 honors graduate of Belleville High School. Currently attending Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, she is employed as a midnight supervisor at Perry's Drug Store.

Her husband is a 1976 graduate of Scott County High School in Onieda, Tennessee. A member of the Michigan Army National Guard, he is employed as a truck driver.

Children host dinner

Almost the entire family was there for the 48th anniversary celebration of Jim and Lillie Chamberlain of Romulus.

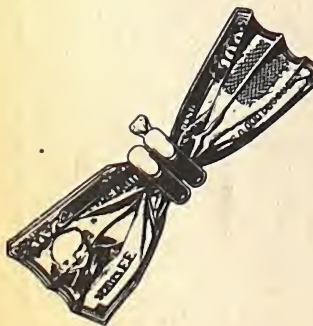

The couple exchanged their wedding vows on Jan. 6, 1937 in Lewisville, Arkansas. She is the former Lillie Smyth of Garland, Arkansas.

The couple's four children and their spouses — Norma and Bob Wiltschek of Sterling Heights, Martha and Don Galvin of Mt. Clemens, Jimmie and Diane Chamberlain of Onsted and Leon and Glenda Chamberlain of Sterling Heights — were in attendance for an anniversary dinner at Wing Wah's at Southland Center. Also present were six of their nine grandchildren. Unable to be present were Andy and Edward Wiltschek, who are members of the U.S. Navy, stationed in Virginia, and Terry Chamberlain, who is in the U.S. Air Force and stationed in Germany.

However, the Chamberlains were treated to a surprise, a telephone call from Terry.

Chamberlain is a 1976 retiree of Great Lakes Steel. The couple enjoy reading, church and visiting family, their children and friends.

HEALTH TESTING SITES
MARCH 13 - APRIL 4.

Again this year, PROJECT: HEALTH-O-RAMA gives you free health tests at over 90 locations throughout seven counties — tests that would otherwise cost you up to $150.00 dollars. For just $7.00 dollars you can get an important blood panel of tests that would have cost you up to $80.00 dollars.

It's your best health bargain around, and thanks to the efforts of over 7,000 volunteers, more people than ever now have this life-saving chance to discover and treat health conditions before they become medical problems.

For the locations nearest you and special tests available at selected sites, call the PROJECT: HEALTH-O-RAMA HOTLINE, 569-6400, Monday through Friday, 10 AM - 3 PM.

Only specially selected sites will test for conditions such as heart, kidney or liver disease, cancer, diabetes, glaucoma, sickle cell and others.

for a minimal handling fee of $7. The panel, which may cost as much as $80 with a private physician, checks for signs of kidney disease, liver disease, cholesterol, diabetes, bone disease, gout and more.

Many sites will be offering additional free tests for hearing, medication counseling, nutrition counseling, colon-rectal cancer screening kits, dental screening, breast self-examination instruction, skin cancer screening, podiatry and sickle cell anemia. Special tests will vary from site to site.

Health services provided by Project: Health-O-Rama offer participants savings of up to $150 per person.

Study Club learns about child abuse

The prevention of child abuse was the topic of discussion at the Febraury meeting of the Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club.

Seventeen members and guest Chris Tator of Belleville were in attendance at the meeting, held at the home of Sandra Lauth.

Sgt. Mark Perkins of the Van Buren Township Police Department was the guest speaker on the prevention of child abuse, which is the GFWC 1984-86 special project.

The highlight of the meeting was an announcement by club president Gloria Gardner that the Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club has been selected to receive the coveted MSFWC Southeastern District Club of the Year Award. Selected as the best club of 44 in the southeastern district, the Belleville Club will now compete with the six other districts for the honor of the MSFWC State Club of the Year. The state winner will be announced at the MSFWC convention in April.

bake sale" to be held next month for the Genevieve Clark Memorial Scholarship. Member Kitty Miller was designated as the clubs nominee for MSFWC Volunteer of the year, and Kitty Davies was authorized to head an investigation committee to pursue an "Olympics of the Mind" tournament in conjunction with Van Buren Public Schools.

The next meeting of the GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club will be
